

techshare 2007

4-5 October, London, UK

www.rnib.org.uk/techshare

Technology is making a difference to the lives of people with disabilities.

The Techshare 2007 Conference is an international event for professionals interested in technology and the role it plays in learning, work and society for people with disabilities.

Packed with presentations and workshops, this year the event also includes a large exhibition open to the public.

We are also delighted to announce that the 2007 Daisy International Technical Conference will be held at Techshare. Daisy is the world's leading standard for digital talking books.

Venue

Novotel London West (Hammersmith), London, UK

RNIB Helping you live with sight loss

Internet, PCs, video games, digital TV, mobile phones, online banking – technology is for everyone

Organised by RNIB and other leading disability organisations, Techshare is a fantastic opportunity to meet with experts and others in your field in a friendly atmosphere.

The Techshare Conference and Exhibition is the place to be to get up-to-date with current and new technologies, share advances in technology and leave the conference with the latest practical knowledge on how technology is being used by people with disabilities.

Important dates

- Speak at Techshare – Call for papers closes 1 July 2007
- Book your place – Early-bird discount booking opens 1 May 2007
- Pre-Conference Workshops – will be held on 3 October 2007

Exhibitor Enquiries

To showcase your organisation contact Claire Clinton at Headstar.
Email claire@headstar.com
Telephone +44 (0)1273 231 291

Conference information

www.rnib.org.uk/techshare
Email techshare@rnib.org.uk
Telephone +44 (0)121 665 4240